

smalltalkbigquestions.today

A collection of improvised discussions between the Co-Po-Jam audience and the smalltalkbigquestions generator on May 15th 2020.

Do you think
detached trees
would ever
accumulate junk
when on a shopping
spree?

Of course - and
they can store
them in their
trunk!

No because detachment
leads to enlightenment

Yes as they are seperated

Yes because they have lost their roots

They won't because they carry reusable bags

No, because they are pretty detached.

Do you think
virtuous global
leaders would ever
interrogate
passersby when turned on?

One could only
hope they won't
grope as well ...

Yes, because they love
asking for more

Yes, it is in their virtue to do so

Yes, they should. Since they are virtuous.

Nah they are too nice for this vice

Do you think
curious planetary
species would ever
accumulate junk
when ice caps
melt?

Yes, it'll be their new home.

Yes, and try to find the best of everything.

No because they'll be dead with ancient viruses.

Yes! They're hoarders.

Yes cause it would unfreeze, what was prior.

Yes, they'll call it archeology.

Not unless they plan it.

Of course, we are addicted to cold junk.

Yes, when ice caps melt, there will be a lot of junk collapsing around us.

Yes, because they're EXTRA terrestrials.

Do you think
unforgiving
entrepreneurs
would ever avoid
each other when
prompted to do so?

Yes, because elephants always remember.

Yes, if they're enterprising.

No, once prompted for profit.

No, they feed off each other's energies.

Yes. Confrontation is tough for entrepreneurs.

Do you think
penny-pinching
athletes would
ever choose to
change things up
when planets
collide?

Yes, if they're willing to go the extra mile.

Yes, when they're running out of time.

No, when planets collide, they'll be busy collecting
the last pennies.

Yes, they will go on that shopping spree with the detached trees.

They are both magnificent bodies.

Some Precious 2020

smalltalkbigquestions.today